SATURDAY MORNING, JANUARY 7, 1865.

News of To-Day.

Movements in Georgia and South Carolina are but partially developed, but everything indicates that Charleston will soon be made the point of attack of the combined land and naval forces under Sherman.

The Savannah river is being cleared of obstructions, and many citizens of Savannah were giving in their allegiance to the United States.

The pirate Olustee, off the coast not far from our fleet, was met by one of our vessels of insufficient size to attack her. Another blockade runner of great value had been captured just out of Charleston.

The destruction done by Burbridge in Virginia is enumerated in to-day's dispatch, and shows that the rebel losses were immense.

Secretary Fessenden and Gov. Yates have been respectively elected by the States of Maine and Illinois to the Senate of the United States for six years from March 4th ensuing.

The New York World has a rumor, supported in some measure by the tone of the Canada papers, to the effect that England and France will recognize the independence of the South on the 4th of March next, and will not see the Confederate States subjugated. This is doubtless a sensation rumor, and has no foundation; neither is it in harmony with the repeated declarations of neutrality so often made in the past by Great Britain, as well as by the Emperor Napoleon.

Lord Wharncliffe, acting in behalf of meddlesome British philanthropists, seems to have been cleverly snubbed by Secretary Seward while in the act of asking permission to contribute to the relief of rebel prisoners in our hands, which induces a discussion of the merits of Mr. Seward's position, no doubt specially induced by the "dig in the ribs" that the Secretary gave Her Majesty's Government at the same time.

The news from Spain, Mexico and San Domingo is of interest and important, showing the success and progress of the improved arms in Mexico, and the probable defeat of the Spanish army in San Domingo.

By-gones.

If the wearied soul that laid down to rest in 1860 could rise again to view the mundane sphere sometime in the closing months of 1865, what changes might he witness, transpired within the few seasons that have marked his absence. From present appearances, the tempest of war is subsiding, and any one of the soon coming months may see an angel of peace steal gently down from Heaven to bless a land too long riven by discord, and heal the gaping wounds that have been caused by civil strife. Supposing that the promise of the present is fulfilled; that armies are disbanded; that the picket no longer guards the lines before Richmond and Petersburg; that fleets no longer bombard Charleston, Wilmington and Mobile, and that steamers on the Mississippi can travel its watery course without fear of some murderous battery opening on them from the shore—suppose that screech of shell and minnie ball are hushed; the roar of battle known only in the oft-told tale of the scarred veterans, and reduced to village gossip by "Johnny," who has at last "come marching home;" when all this blessedness has been realized, there will be many changes observable throughout the land, in the character of the people and of the Nation. The discipline of war itself will lend its force to the future of the young men who have rallied round the flag in its time of danger, and the warlike, chivalrous natures that war engenders will not die out from among us with the passing generation.

The cotemporary powers of earth will remember our fleets and armies, and not forget the respect due to the nation that could rouse itself so suddenly and successfully to maintain its honor unimpaired, and the day of European intolerance will be gone forever. The monotony of peace will seem tedious for awhile to the soldier used to war's alarms, and there are many old time habits, customs and privileges that will be bygones numbered with the past.

There was an ancient cry of chivalry that originated in South Carolina and spread in time through the slaveholding States, assuming that they were the chivalrous people of the nation, and that the "universal Yankee" had no part nor lot in the matter. This was said and repeated until the South did at last believe that one of themselves could offset three Yankees in the field; but alas for chivalry! it has met the "mudsills" in many a battle and come off second best. Chivalry is the attribute so modestly claimed and wholly appropriated by a people who introduced civil war into their States by hanging so many non-sympathizers with their treason to the most convenient tree. Perhaps it is owing to chivalry, too, that our soldiers have learned to dread the Southern slaughter pens far worse than death; eleven thousand poor wretches having in one season died in one Southern prison yard alone. Dartmoor fades into insignificance—the Black Hole of Calcutta is paralleled at home, and infernal barbarities that we would scarce charge upon an African chief, or a race of cannibals, are the every day acts of a people who deem themselves par excellence the aristocracy, the essential "chivalry" of the American people. The odor of this chivalry goes up to Heaven, not only tainted with "the everlasting curse of human bondage," for the prison pens have banished the slave pens out of mind.

There was an institution of negro slavery peculiar to Southern States, that in 1860 was hedged in with bars of triple steel; guarded at every approach; guaranteed by Constitutional provisions and that would have remained intact to-day had not mad ambition o'er leaped itself, and thus dissolved every constituent of firmness that bound its existence to the Union. Southern treason was a plant of slow and deliberate growth. Southern slavery had been the gradual increase of a century; but when treason culminated slavery committed suicide.

The economical taxation of the past has been forestalled in the future by a recently accumulated debt, that taxes the patriotic will of every citizen. The old era has passed away when the army was numbered by hundreds and our ships were counted by scores. The nation to-day, is the New Nation arising out of the war, so eloquently depicted by T. Star King, great in its proportions and resources, vast in its future; no longer the hesitating power that lately [illegible] the experiment of freedom, but achieving it at last in its highest and noblest form of government, and proudly peer to all the Nations. Many things are by-gones with us, but let the [illegible] purity and patriotism that planted the [illegible] colonies and secured their independence remain forever with us as it was bequeathed to us.

AMENDMENTS TO THE STATE CONSTITUTION.—We publish below the proposed amendments to the Constitution, adopted by the last Legislative Assembly, and which, if adopted by the next Legislature in 1866, will be submitted to the people for ratification at a succeeding general election. This is a matter that every citizen is peculiarly interested in and should thoroughly understand. We shall discuss the questions involved in these amendments at some future time:

HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION, No. 10.—A Joint Resolution to propose certain amendments to the Constitution of the State of Oregon.

Resolved, By the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Oregon, [illegible] that the following amendments to the Constitution of the State [illegible] be proposed and referred to the next Legislative Assembly, and if [illegible] of said articles shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected [illegible] and shall be ratified by a majority of the electors of the State, then the same shall to all intents and purposes be a part of the Constitution of the State of Oregon.

ARTICLE I.—The Legislative Assembly may at any time provide for the election of Supreme and Circuit Judges in distinct classes, as provided in the Constitution of this State.

ARTICLE II.—The Legislative Assembly may at any time alter or modify the salaries of [illegible] provided for in the Constitution of this State; provided, that the salary of no officer whose salary is provided for by the Legislature, shall be increased or diminished during his continuance in office.

ARTICLE III.—The members of the Legislative Assembly shall receive for their services a sum not exceeding four dollars a day, from the commencement of the session; but such pay shall not exceed in the aggregate two hundred and forty dollars for per diem allowance, for any one session. When convened in extra session by the Governor, they shall receive four dollars per day.

Adopted by the House, October 13th, 1864.
L. R. [illegible],
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
Adopted by the Senate, October 14th, 1864.
J. H. MITCHELL,
President of the Senate.

A LITTLE HEROINE.—Some time last month a soldier named Wheatly, belonging to the Seventy-fourth Ohio, died with fever in the hospital at Nashville, Tennessee, and was buried in the military graveyard near that city. In another of the hospitals was a son who had been badly wounded, but who was able to hobble along after his father's remains to their final resting place. In Milford, Ohio, lived two motherless children, a young girl and her little brother, who were now left parentless by the death of their father in Nashville. This girl had received a letter from her wounded brother that their father was very ill and perhaps they would never look upon him in life again. The girl took her little brother to an aunt's residence, and immediately set out upon a journey without any knowledge of the country or the different modes of travel, and with scarcely means enough to buy food along the road. She arrived in this city on the cars last Saturday, and she was humanely and gratuitously transported safely over the Nashville Railroad to see her poor father and wounded brother. But, alas! when she arrived in Nashville she found that her father had died. She sought that grave alone, and bent her little form over the new-made mound and wept tears that eyes like hers alone could weep. She was an orphan now, and who was there save the eye of the All-seeing and watchful Maker of us all, who pitied the fate of that poor, parentless orphan girl, weeping over the grave of her father? Alas! who seemed to care? Returning from her visit to the grave with her bright and beautiful eyes dimmed with tears of sorrow, she met her wounded brother on the way to the front; she clung to him as if death had sealed the embrace forever, and her kisses were the last tributes of love which she could give him. In half an hour they were separated, he going with the soldiers to the front, and she left alone in a strange city, miles away from friends or home. That tender embrace, that fond and affectionate kiss of love, that sad hour of parting and mournful word good by, all may have been the last. They may never meet again. The brave young girl left for home on Tuesday last. She is but fourteen years of age, her face and form is pretty, and her eyes and hair as black as a raven's wing. She is very intelligent indeed for a girl of her age, and the look of sympathy and the story of her unfortunate situation in life brought many a tear from the eyes of those who stood around and looked upon the sad countenance of that brave and beautiful girl. May Heaven watch over and guide the footsteps of the poor orphan, Mary Wheatley.—Nashville paper, November 17th.

California News.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—Gold 223@231.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan 5.—Bogus extra cases occur every day. Under the law regulating telegraphs, Judge Shepard decided a complaint today on the grounds that extra did not contain telegrams and they could not, by implication, be construed as false dispatches so as to come under the law. The charge of conspiracy to cheat and defraud was taken up and they were held for trial in the County Court.

The steamer Sacramento arrived this evening, having remained outside of the bay all day.

W. R. Robinson, arrested for carrying concealed weapons, forfeited bail. A bench warrant was issued for his arrest.

Wm. Farrell was held to $3,000 bail for counterfeiting.

A fire at No. 38, California street, burned out James R. Kelly, paint and oil importer, and damaged the California Saloon. Loss, $5,000.

Deondri Texta, alias Frank Ames, was convicted of forgery.

Arrived—Ida Rogers, from Kanagawa.

Greenbacks 45½@46.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 6.—In the Fifteenth District Court the jury rendered a verdict of $15 00 damages in the case of W. W. Drummond vs Jno. Delhanty, for false imprisonment. Drummond was arrested some time ago for drawing fraudulent drafts. Delhanty went on his bond, but subsequently surrendered him and withdrew his bond, whereupon Drummond sued for $10,000 damages.

R. E. Ball, was acquitted of the charge of robbing Beriah Brown's correspondence. The jury considered him weak minded.

Mickey Grant was arrested to-day charged with complicity with Jas Corbett in larceny.

Scott & Oliver, shipping masters, publish a card asserting that the boy Wood, alleged to have been kidnapped, voluntarily shipped with them for a whaling voyage.

The Military Department here have not received the funds as reported, but expect a million next week. Their disbursement will probably lower greenbacks a cent and a half or two cents.

Yesterday's telegrams quote gold at 220@226; alcohol, 410; whisky, 226, and instruct parties to hold; legal tenders, 46@46½.

Henry Carleton, Jr., has been appointed agent of the Bay Sugar Refinery. W. T. Coleman is sole agent of the San Francisco and Pacific Refinery.

APOSTACY.—"Since the apostacy of the Statesman." The above sentence occurs in the columns of a Copperhead paper that is supposed to be in reality influenced and directed by the whilom editor under whose charge the Statesman was when it committed the apostacy referred to, of leaving the Democratic fold and entering the Union ranks. The charge of "base" is apostacy, the course of the individual referred to—since the time when he commenced business in Oregon as "Tapkay's" Agent, until he received absolution and was gratuitously received as a Copperhead, by his quondam Democratic associates, also remember his abuse in the past much more easily than they appreciate his present success—would show apostacies enough to furnish his last organ quite a variety of texts.

Rumors of Recognition.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The World has a Washington dispatch going to show that England and France will recognize the South on the 4th of March, because Lincoln did not carry the Southern States, and that England has been for some time quietly organizing a military force in Canada; that an order peremptorily refusing leaves of absence to officers in the best regiment of the English army has been issued; that the recent articles in the Richmond papers are prompted by Louis Napoleon, and that the South is now being harder pressed than ever; that England and France cannot see Union restored, and will never permit the South to be conquered. Montreal papers are putting forth the same views.

Rebel Losses in West Virginia.

The Herald's correspondent gives a full account of the recent [illegible] through [illegible] Stoneman, Burbridge and Gillam. [illegible] the rebels is [illegible] irreparable. The [illegible] salt works, [illegible] furnaces, one hundred [illegible] and a large amount of rebel property were destroyed. [illegible] hundred and twenty pieces of artillery [illegible] were captured.

Louisville [illegible] taken possession of by [illegible] under Maj. Thomas, our forces [illegible].

France, England and Dixie.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The Herald of the 5th, in reply to [illegible] for the protection of France and England in the present weakness of the South. [illegible] Davis, and that [illegible] It says: If the [illegible] was [illegible] of being subjects of those foreign powers or [illegible] of the United States, they would choose the former.

From Savannah.

The Savannah correspondent of the World writes that Sherman will march first on Augusta and then to Charleston, where, with Dahlgren in front, he will lay siege to the stronghold.

Dispatches [illegible] develope an intention [illegible] the rebel rams out of Charleston harbor [illegible] of the theatre of our iron clads. This led [illegible] sending of all the monitors to Charleston, where they now are.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The Herald's Savannah correspondent says, that many citizens have taken the oath of allegiance. The 1st division of the 20th corps has moved across the Savannah river into South Carolina, and met and drove a regiment of Wheeler's cavalry. No other rebel force was found.

The Richmond Sentinel has a report, which it discredits, that Price is dead. This paper of the 27th says that a boat load of blankets has been received for the Yankee prisoners.

The Petersburg Express is informed that the cotton found by Sherman in Savannah is owned by private individuals and Great Britain, but none by the Confederate Government. It [illegible] that only 1,000 pairs of blankets were sent to our prisoners. The Express says as there are 1,000 Yankee prisoners there this supply falls short two-thirds.

NEW YORK, Jan. 5.—The Herald's Savannah letter says:

The City is remarkably quiet. When our troops first entered, the citizens remained in their houses through fear of personal injury. This fear has passed away. The people now come freely into the streets and the majority appear desirous of placing themselves in a loyal position towards the United States Government.

The Times correspondent at Savannah says:

No active operations to record, but on every side there are evidences of immense preparations for renewed activity. Every man in the army talks of a grand and overwhelming march on Charleston. Admiral Dahlgren's monitors are busily engaged removing obstructions in the Savannah river. These obstructions are quite formidable especially those in the vicinity of Fort Jackson. It may be a week or two before communication will be open for vessels of heavy draft. The obstructions consist mainly of strong piles against which have been sunk vessels loaded with stones. Where the next blow will be struck is not developed. A number of merchants formerly connected with the business community of New York are to proceed North by the next steamer and propose to settle up old accounts and start again on the old basis.

The Herald's special says: It is reported that official information has been received that Kilpatrick's cavalry have taken Shepardville, on the Charleston and South Carolina road.

The Herald's Shenandoah correspondent says: Information direct from Richmond says that troops are being hurried off to Branchville, S. C., and the adjacent region to attempt to block Sherman's northward movement.

The Richmond papers pretend to have information which placed Hood's army south of the Tennessee river. They admit that he is suffering for rations and commissary supplies.

The Richmond Examiner says that the damage done by the Union raiders to the salt works can be repaired long before the railroad is.

Army of the James.

The Herald gives a complete history of Dutch Gap Canal, from the time it commenced, August last, up to the day of the explosion of the bulkhead. The canal is 522 feet long, and width of the excavation is 122 feet; depth 65 feet; width of the canal proper is 60 feet at the top and 45 at the bottom. From these facts some idea may be formed of the immensity of the work. It is supposed that the canal, in consequence of the heavy batteries bearing on it, cannot be completed at present. The work, so far as it has been carried, is so much gained in an enterprise which, when it shall be completed, will always be of incalculable importance to the commercial interests of Richmond. The explosion of the bulkhead at the canal on the 1st was witnessed by a large number of officers, and a strong body of troops under arms to be ready for emergencies.

The Tribune's Army of the James special says: The Dutch Gap Canal is regarded as a complete success; the result of the explosion of the bulkhead being all that was expected. The dredging machine now finished the work. Sixteen feet of water have been in the canal since Dec. [illegible]

Blockade Runner Captured.

The Herald's correspondent off Charleston on the 29th, says: The blockade running steamer Julia, with a cargo of 140 bales of cotton, bound from Charleston to Nassau, was captured a short distance outside the former port on the 24th, by the gunboat [illegible]. The Julia and her cargo are valued at $200,000.

The Pirate Olustee.

The Herald's Beaufort correspondence of the 28th, says: The United States steamer Lillian, the lately captured blockade runner of that name, has just arrived for coal. She reports having fallen in with the pirate Olustee, that vessel having run out of Wilmington on the morning of the 28th December, at the western bar, while the fleet was engaged with Fort Fisher.

On the morning of the 29th, the Lillian discovered a black smoke to the seaward and gave chase, [illegible] supposed blockade runner, which did not seem disposed to heave to, and accordingly the Lillian [illegible] on the stranger with her pivot gun and fired two shots. Upon nearing the stranger it was discovered that she was flying at the masthead the rebel ensign and carried five large guns. As the Lillian carried only two small guns, it was [illegible] considered prudent not to fight the rebel. The Lillian then put about and stood for the fleet, the rebel following her some time. It was not until the Lillian was far out of range and was approaching the blockading fleet that the rebel changed her course and started in another direction.

Mexico and St. Domingo.

Advices from Vera Cruz to the 23d ult., have been received which represent Maximilian's troops as making progress in various directions, having recently occupied the towns of Manzanillo, Mazatlan, Colima, [illegible]. Several additional victories over the Mexican forces are also claimed.

A row growing out of a drunken quarrel occurred at San Luis Potosi. The Imperial officers arrested three hundred persons, over thirty of whom were shot on the spot. [illegible] murders, &c. The Belgian legion [illegible] the Emperor's army, entered the City of Mexico [illegible].

From St. Domingo we have dates to [illegible]. The [illegible] the Spanish invaders. The President [illegible] It was hoped peace would succeed [illegible] say they will fight till [illegible].

European News.

The London Times has an editorial on a letter of Seward in reply to Lord Wharncliffe's application to distribute aid to rebel prisoners. It says the animus displayed is no slight testimony to the consideration [illegible] Her Majesty's Government in its dealings with the Union. [illegible] the British nation. [illegible] Seward must be hard pressed when he thinks it necessary to express so much indignation on so trifling an affair. The Times [illegible] Lord Wharncliffe, after [illegible] Seward's charges against the British people [illegible] by saying that he knows [illegible] the questions [illegible] and public opinion in the United States. [illegible]

A letter published in the city article of the Times, on trading regulations with the South, contends that they are calculated to impede rather than promote traffic. He asserts that the only available channel for cotton is through the blockade, and that the facilities of this [illegible] have been increased, not by the [illegible] of the blockade, [illegible] the [illegible] of blockade running.

Tribute of Respect.

At a special meeting of Multnomah Lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M., held on Wednesday, January 4th, 1865, the following resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, It has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst our late worthy Brother Wm. C. Dement, whose death has cast a gloom over the hearts of his many friends, and [illegible]

Resolved, That in the death of Brother Dement this city has lost one among its oldest citizens, who has resided among us for almost twenty years, and our Fraternity one who was ever anxious to advance its interests; but these losses, great as they are, are nothing when compared to the void caused in the home circle of which he was the loved and loving head.

Resolved, That the wife made a widow and the children left fatherless by this most afflicting Providence, whose ways are past finding out, and to the other relatives, whose hearts are stricken by this blow, we tender our most earnest sympathy in this their hour of sorrow.

Resolved, That as a testimonial of respect to the memory of our deceased Brother the members of this Lodge wear the usual badge of mourning, and that our Hall be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that a copy of these resolutions be transmitted to the family of the deceased and a copy be placed on the records of this Lodge.

NO EXAGGERATION.—Some seem to think our estimate of the money expended in this city during the past year for building improvements too high, but we think there is no mistake about it. The article of lumber alone is enormous when it is rightly considered. In Portland we have two mills, that in the aggregate have sawed for the twelve months ending December 31st, forty hundred thousand feet of lumber. Of this amount not to exceed five hundred thousand feet have been disposed of for shipment. The balance has been consumed here. Besides this, other mills have furnished us. Mr. Trullinger, of Oswego, has filled one order for six hundred thousand feet, and it is safe to presume that Messrs. Abernethy & Herr have furnished us with as much if not more. In addition to this at least four hundred thousand feet of cedar and red wood have found market among us. Thus it will be seen that at the usual cost, or average price of $25 per thousand feet, for dressed and undressed lumber, the sum of $117,750 has been expended for that one article. The cost of lumber is a minor consideration in calculating the expense of building. Brick and stone, and the cost of labor are taken into account much above the scale of price for other materials. There is a want already felt for more material than be supplied the present year, we fear. Our street improvements will demand a large increase on the past year in plank and brick for sidewalks, and it is predicted that the mills on the Columbia will have to be called upon to assist us in our lumber supplies, leaving them little for export. Mr. Vaughn, we understand, has it in contemplation to change his plans and build the proposed new grist mill on Front street, of wood, consequent upon the growing scarcity of brick. The field for investment in the manufacture of building materials is just now extensive, and we hope to see the chances improved. There will always be a demand for any surplus we may have, for export, and nothing can be lost in such enterprizes, even though a dozen mills were started in this vicinity to-morrow.

THE GARRISON GAMBRENUS MILL.—Mr. Spear arrived from Idaho City on Tuesday evening, having been to that place superintending the engineering and putting up of the quartz mill for the "Garrison Gambrenus Lodge," which is situated about seven miles from Idaho City in a northeasterly direction, near the head of Elk Creek. The mill arrived at its destination on the 1st of November, and through his able superintendence was fired up on the 6th. On the 10th it was crushing Ore. There has been six different cleanings, and the result of the crushing has been very satisfactory, the last of which was $6,000 and over, net proceeds of [illegible] tons of rock. Samples of the gold shown us look very handsome indeed, and is worth about $17 per ounce. The mill is put up by Messrs. R. C. Combs & Co., late of Idaho City, and the ledge is reported in fine working order and about four feet thick. Mr. Spear has returned to this city to procure additional castings for the mill.

THE ASTORIA STEAMBOAT LINE.—The change which has lately been effected in the above line of steamers places Capt. J. C. Ainsworth, late President of the O. S. N. Company, in possession of the route and boats. The Captain is literally a steamboat man, and will be much at home in this enterprise, as it was formerly for years his possession. The people of Oregon are too well acquainted with Capt. Ainsworth not to know that whatever he undertakes is found to be a success, and we predict that under his safe management the line of Columbia river packets will become quite popular. The steamer John H. Couch will run as usual for the present, but it is expected soon that the steamers will be newly officered and put in due trim for the summer's work. The purchase includes the line on the Cowlitz river, as well as that to Astoria.

NEW COLUMBIAN.—Among the friends whose remembrance of the printer came with peculiar acceptance, was the excellent proprietor of the New Columbian, by a considerable the largest and certainly not the least popular of our hotels. Since opening his house early in the fall, Mr. Sinnott has most of the time been crowded with arrivals from all quarters, and it is only since winter has partly closed the avenues of travel that business has slacked down to a comfortable house full. The New Columbian is near the landing of many of the steamboats at the foot of Morrison street, and if convenience takes the traveler there once, inclination takes him there the second time—at least it takes most of the printers there.

A VERY CONVENIENT ARTICLE.—Passing along Front street last evening we observed a new invention in possession of our friend Crandall, which tested our curiosity, and we found it to be an arrangement for lighting the path of a pedestrian in a dark night. It is calculated for burning coal oil, is cheap, durable, and withal looks well. The improvement consists of a new patent brass burner, with a concave circle, patented by Archer & Pancost. The bottom consists of a square box for the oil, while the pyramidal cover, with two glass sides, serves as chimney and shield for the flame. Crandall & Towle have them for sale, and for a fair demonstration of its value the lamp should be seen.

THEATRICAL.—There was no performance at Willamette Theatre in this city last evening, but a good bill is offered for to-night. "Oliver Twist," a grand serio-comic drama from Dickens, and a comic pantomime extravaganza by Miss Sue Robinson, winding up the entertainment with a "Kiss in the Dark,"—a laughable farce. Acting, comedy and pantomime in one bill.

ERRATUM.—We are informed by the City Auditor that the amount mentioned in our report of the Common Council, placing the indebtedness of the city at $5,190 80 was incorrect, as the list of accounts read embraced only such bills as have been laid on the table since the adoption of the new city charter.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—A most important sale of real estate will take place at the Court House today at 11 o'clock A. M. The property is known as the "Loring Farm," and is situated very convenient to this city—the advertiser, Col. W. W. Chapman, states that the property will go "for greenbacks."

FOREMAN NO. 1.—E. J. Northrup, Esq., was elected Foreman of Willamette Company No. 1, at the regular monthly meeting Thursday evening, vice T. H. West, resigned, to accept of the place to which he has lately been assigned by the Department, as First Assistant Engineer.

EIGHTH OF JANUARY BALL.—The officers of Fort Vancouver are to give a ball on Monday evening next. The steamer Fanny Troup will leave here for Vancouver on that day at 1 30 P. M., for the accommodation of the invited guests.

THE QUESTION OF TAXES.—Tax payers should remember that the 15th inst., is the first day of grace, regarding the payment of taxes—and Sheriff [illegible] is [illegible] more imperative in the [illegible]. We [illegible] the advertisement in another column for [illegible] particulars.

HOSTETTER'S
CELEBRATED
STOMACH BITTERS.
THE OPERATION OF THIS PALATABLE REMEDY upon the stomach, liver and excretory organs is [illegible] soothing and conservative. It regulates, renovates and purifies them. Dyspepsia in all its forms yields to its cordial and invigorating properties.

Invigorate the System.
Vigorous digestion and pure bile produce nutritious chyle, and nutritious blood a healthy frame. Does the victim of a dyspeptic stomach and a disordered liver desire to know how the digestion may be improved, the bile and other fluids of the body purified?

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters
Will accomplish this desirable revolution in the system, regulating the secretions and excretions, giving tone to the animal juices which dissolve the food, strengthen every [illegible] nerve, muscle and fibre, and brings the whole machinery of vitality into vigorous and healthful play.

Strengthen the System.
The best means of imparting vigor to the broken-down frame and shattered constitution, which has yet been invented or discovered, is proffered to the feeble of both sexes and all ages in

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.
Debility, from whatever cause arising, may be cured; strength, in whatever manner it may have been wasted, may be restored by the use of this powerful and healthy invigorant. For indigestion and all its painful effects, bodily and mental, they are a positive specific.

A Word to the Aged!
In the decline of life, the loss of vital force consequent upon physical decay can only be safely supplied by some vivifying preparation which recruits the strength and spirits, without entailing the exhaustion which is always the final effect of ordinary stimulants. We tender to the aged

Dr. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.
As an invigorant and restorative, immediate in its beneficial action and permanent in its effects. It tones the stomach, improves the appetite, and acts like a charm upon the spirits.

For Females:
Thousands of ladies resort to it as a remedy for hysteria, fluttering of the heart, nervous headache, vertigo, general debility, and all peculiar disturbances and derangements to which, as a sex, they are subject. It cheers and enlivens the depressed mental powers, as well as strengthens the body, and its use is never followed by any reaction.

A Greenback Case!
HAVING BEEN COMPELLED TO ACCEPT OF Legal Tender Notes at par since the 17th day of December [illegible] for the rent of my handsome Brick Store, corner of Morrison and Front Streets, I feel compelled to [illegible] for the benefit of the public at large, that Jacob Mayer
leased the building of me on the 17th day of February, [illegible] for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue, and it was understood the terms were CASH. Since the date above stated I have received the [illegible] currency regularly, under protest for the rent of the CITY OF PARIS STORE,
[illegible] less than two-fifths of the real amount said Mayer [illegible] to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and even were he now to comply with his contract and pay in COIN, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a few dollars to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see what it costs to have such tenants. G. W. VAUGHN.

THE PRIMARY DEPARTMENT.

In my last article [illegible] the physical condition of the small children in [illegible] upon directors and teachers. We ought to [illegible] most [illegible] A age [illegible] velopes strength [illegible]

What is true of the body [illegible] of the mind [illegible] children [illegible] is as strong [illegible] wants [illegible] ture in order to grow. The minds of some bright little boys and girls are stunted by wrong habits of teaching as I have seen them stunted by wrong habits of work in the shop and factory and even though not often on the farm.

There is a natural way for every child to learn in school as well as at home. What he learns at home and in the shop is by imitating and by trying to do certain work. The real educated and trains him, while it encourages him to make new trials. How many of our farmers, carpenters, blacksmiths, gunsmiths, printers, merchants, lawyers, doctors and ministers we have in America and especially in our new State, and they generally do their work well. It is a [illegible] to find a man who cannot read or write doing a large and intricate and successful business. But we have had such cases in Oregon. We say that the man has no education but this is a mistake. He has learned some things well and he has learned how to use the knowledge of men. He sees quickly, studies deeply, reasons correctly and acts promptly respecting matters in which he is interested, two things have been true of such a man: he has felt an interest in knowing some things and so only he has succeeded.

These two things are elements in every child. The first day of school you can see [illegible] in every child however small. His curiosity is all awake. The boy has much to tell papa and mama when he gets home at night. This curiosity is the golden thread which the teacher may take and which he [illegible] in his hand to guide the child's mind from one object to another, and from one truth to another. The first days in the primary department might be spent in pointing out the objects in the school room.

The teacher might ask the little boy or girl what the stove is for? What the house is for? What the black board? What the slates? What the chart? What the primer? What a letter is? What a figure is for? At every step questions and answers should keep alive the child's interest and he should feel that he succeeds. Soon he will learn the sounds of letters or a verse of scripture or of poetry. He will see that he can tell his hands as others do, and know the letters and words and figures. His mind will begin to grow, or rather it will not stop growing. It will develop easily and naturally in new directions. If the teacher keeps a faithful hold of the child's interest by such means he or she will be able to lead on the pupil, step by step, to new truths with increasing success.

It is at this point that children are stunted. Their curiosity is not kept alive for they do not succeed in getting the idea which they need to get. The task then becomes hard even if it be in the alphabet or in words of two or three letters. True it is that our modern school books contrive to arouse children by pictures and stories, and they help the teacher, but the teacher after all is more than the book. He must point out the way, give a cheering word, and make every child feel that he is doing something.

One little boy can make a good figure or letter, or draw the outline of a horse or cat, or the lines of a map. Another can read distinctly. Another spells well. A fourth is good for his quietness. A fifth sings well and a sixth is a smart speaker. Each differs in mind from his companion as much as in looks. Two cannot be made exactly alike mentally. It is of no use for the teacher to expect the same things of every child. Uniformity in learning the letters, or to read or spell or to give the sounds of the letters, or in studying Geography or Arithmetic does not appear in the smallest collection of children, much less does it in large primary departments. The teacher must look for variety of talent and of aptness in the little ones. They are scions of different families and they are to be our future laborers, artisans, traders and professional men.

Cowper's parents tried to make a lawyer of him but he could be nothing but a poet. Some girls cannot help being good musicians. The music is in them, and they will sing even when they are very small. Others can never sing or play with ease and success though you give them the best instructors. Yet the singing child may stumble over the simplest rules of arithmetic, while the unmusical child will find arithmetic and grammar a pastime. The teacher failing to find the same powers in both, must not call the one a dunce, and the other a bright scholar. The teacher must not have a chart marked for reading, spelling, writing, geography and arithmetic and grade all the pupils as they meet the bill, putting zero against the names of two, five, or eight who have no faculty for anything in the bill but who have a faculty for something not in the bill.

I have seen smart boys and girls put down as nobodies because they could not do just what the teacher required as well as others or even at all. Such children soon feel hurt and discouraged, and they give up all effort. Parents feel sad and sometimes ashamed of their little ones. The fact is these dunces are smarter to do some things than the brighter scholars are. They are little heroes to do what they have an aptness for, and it is the teachers' as well as the parents' duty to find and bring out every child's peculiar faculty, so that he may himself see it, and feel encouraged. Then he will go on to learn what will help him to know what he wants to know.

The fact is, that some of the best minds are stunted in the primary departments of instruction and they never outgrow it.

More care is needed to start the young plant well than to make it grow well afterwards.

G. H. ATKINSON, Superintendent.

A REUNION OF BOSTON REPORTERS.—On Saturday evening last the reporters of Boston held their semi-annual reunion. It was proved to be an agreeable relaxation and enjoyment after the arduous labors of the political campaign mingled with sad recollections. A review of the record of the past four years showed that three of their number, as officers of various grades had given up their lives on the battle field, two others had died from diseases contracted in war correspondents, two had died at home, two were serving in the navy as Paymasters, three others (or more) had served in the army, several were now in the service as war correspondents and [illegible] had been Lieutenant Colonel [illegible] of the New Hampshire Cavalry, nearly recovered from disabilities in service, who will present himself to return to his regiment. [illegible] has recently been elected Treasurer of Worcester county, and a number of editors [illegible] are engaged in other business in different portions of the country.—Boston [illegible]
